MOBILE INTEGRATED SYSTEMS FOR ENVIRONMENTAL MONITORING

Waste from industrialization and urbanization increasingly create a source of pollution in terrestrial and aquatic systems leading to land and water pollution and lake eutrophication. In order to monitor water quality, eutrophication and harmful algal blooms a smartphone app is developed and equipped with additional service features.

ISU 2017: Part 1 at Ostfalia, Wolfenbüttel:

Water Monitoring and Bioremediation Concepts (ES I / II) (Prof. Preuss/ Prof. Skalbeck (UWP); Dr. Sander (Ostfalia)) Participants in will get acquainted with techniques to collect and evaluate data sets under field conditions in order to evaluate and predict eutrophication status in lake waters. They will get acquainted with bioremediation concepts and the role of monitoring options.

Mobile – Cloud Integrated Systems (Course CS I / II) (Prof. Quevedo (UWP); Prof. Weimar (Ostfalia)) Participants will enhance an existing mobile application with cloud functionality and data analysis capabilities. In lectures the context will be prepared, and in lab sessions with hands-on project work, participants will develop tools for cloud storage, data mining, and statistical analysis of the app data as a service to environmental institutions for acontinuous monitoring of different lake regions.

This ISU is part of a two series ISU offer in 2017.

ISU Part 2 will be hosted by University of Wisconsin at Parkside, WI, USA, in 13th – 26th of August 2017.

Information about US course fees: miles@uwp.edu

Both ISU will be credited with 5 CP (EU) together, or 2,5 CP (EU) separately for each. Ostfalia students can apply for financial aid to participate in Part 2 (f.seutter@ostfalia.de).

EXCURSIONS AND FIELD TRIPS

125 years ago German pioneers invented the automobile. Today Europe's largest car manufacturer Volkswagen is located in the same region as Ostfalia is. Meet workers and engineers at the assembly lines and inspect the latest models of Volkswagen.
